LOUD WINNERS

The outfits worn at the loud shirt and shift contest were loud and varied. The members gave the poor judges a hard time when it came to declaring the winners.

Mr. Mark Swingley took the most unusual shirt prize. His shirt was torn however. There was an arrow stuck through it from the back to the front and Mark was still in the shirt. That red on the front sure did look like blood. He had the bow along with him too. His prize was a fifth of liquid to be used as antiseptic. We suspect that he plans to use the medicine on the inside tho.

Mrs. Albert Schlau won the most unusual shift prize. We failed to take notes and don't remember just what her shift was like.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmidt won the loud shirt and shift prizes. We were told that they had the opportunity to sell the outfits before they left the convention.

The most confused ourfit went to Mrs. Edna Wells. She said that she didn't know which we meant was confused, she or the dress.

The runners up were Mr. Edward Backus for the loud shirt and Mrs. Ruth Wright for the shift.

Two youngsters were walking home from Sunday school after having been taught a lesson about the devil. One of the boys said to the other, "What do you think about all that devil stuff?"

The other thoughtfully replied, "Well, you know how Santa Claus turned out. It's probably just your dad."
